Each site consists of a single classroom within the main building and has a School of One teacher and paraprofessional, as well as support staff. Those locations are: Collinwood, East Tech, Glenville, John Adams, Lincoln-West, and James Ford Rhodes High Schools. Our John Marshall site as well as our Main Office are located inside Bard Early College (13501 Terminal Ave, Room 103, Cleveland). We are fortunate to have recently opened 2 more innovative sites. These sites are similar to our others in that they have rolling applications, small classroom sizes, and computerized learning. However, each one has a specialized focus to meet the needs of the students who attend there. Our 8th site is located at The Foundry, Cleveland's rowing facility. Students at our Foundry site learn about rowing and sailing and have an opportunity for employment at MCPc, in addition to their core academics. Our most recent site, new this school year, is located at the new and improved LGBT Community Center in Gordon Square. This site will be fully integrated with the Center's QYou program in addition to providing students with their core academics."

Equality Ohio	https://equalityohio.org/	Equality Ohio was founded in 2005 by a group of 65 dedicated LGBT activists and allies from all corners of Ohio after voters passed a constitutional amendment prohibiting same sex marriage and civil unions. Over a decade later, Equality Ohio’s work is broad and focuses on multiple aspects of LGBTQ equality in Ohio. A primary issue of Equality Ohio’s is a lack of inclusion of LGBTQ people in the laws that make discrimination illegal in Ohio. Just four years after our founding we celebrated the Ohio House of Representatives passing what was then called the Equal Housing &amp; Employment Act with 38 bipartisan co-sponsors. Unfortunately the bill died in the Senate. In addition to working on nondiscrimination, Equality Ohio engaged in policy work to patch up a lack of inclusive laws. Equality Ohio worked with several cities (despite lawsuits) to establish domestic partnership registries—including two in public school systems. These registries allowed for local employers to have a way of officially determining who was eligible for company benefits. Once these registries were created, we supported revising tax structures which imposed additional burdens on same-sex couples.

We conduct extensive and original research to inform our evidence-based solutions for K-12 education. We author developmentally appropriate resources for educators to use throughout their school community. We advise on, advocate for, and research comprehensive policies designed to protect LGBTQ students as well as students of marginalized identities. We've brought record support to the Safe Schools Improvement Act and the Student Non-Discrimination Act and fought discriminatory legislation in over 15 states. We coordinate a network of 43 chapters in 30 states across the nation, to ensure that we have access to schools and districts across the country to reach every student.
